My new ex wife is...as you all know..a total psycho. She came into this marriage with nothing, verbally abuses me during the relationship, and paints herself to be a VICTIM. How sad. She walks away with 750k, more than most average people will make in a lifetime. How spoiled. Hopefully, some of the money goes towards mental therapy, which is clearly needed. If life gets you down too badly Tricia, remember, you can always commit suicide. I can recommend where you can get some real strong rope to hang yourself :)
